U. S. Uninsured Help Line

800-234-1317

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

To our friends, supporters and communities:

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education educated a record number of people in 2006. Our efforts to teach Americans about their health care options resulted in more than 73 million impressions through radio and television public service announcements, newspaper and magazine articles, group presentations and other outreach campaigns.

Our extensive outreach efforts have made an especially big impact on our U. S. Uninsured Help Line™. Nearly 10,000 calls have been received at the Help Line and we have expanded the service beyond California into thirteen additional states. By mid 2007 the Help Line service will serve the entire country. The Help Line is a live service that offers assistance finding both public and private health coverage options 24 hours a day seven days a week, in 58 languages.

2006 was about keeping up with the demand we got from other states to have tools and services catered to their residents. As a result, the FHCE has provided every state in the U.S. with a customized Matrix. In addition to expanding the Help Line and Matrix tools, thirteen more states have been incorporated into our online Health Insurance Eligibility Tool, with the remaining states to be added in early 2007. After answering five simple questions a person can instantly see a list of health coverage options.

Our Strengths Are Our Differences

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education recognizes that specially tailored communication is one of our fortes. In addition to expanding our tools geographically we are also expanding them “socially.” We have translated our Matrix into five different languages (English, Spanish, Cantonese, Vietnamese and Mandarin). And now we are in the process of customizing our tools for specific audiences in various life stages: students, families, business owners, individuals facing life changes like getting married, leaving jobs or getting divorced.

We have gained the support of social workers, educators, business owners, doctors, hospitals and the insurance industry. Our goal is to have nearly every insurance agent or broker in the U.S. equipped to guide clients not just to private health insurance options but also to public options. We are also learning what works in each community. In some California counties “promotoras” promote health care options to Spanish-speaking neighborhoods. In other neighborhoods “educators” reach out to African American neighborhoods.

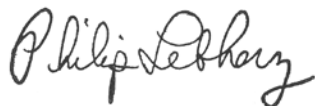

With the help of the FHCE tools and information, we are seeing important information show up on the governor of California's website. Government leaders in California and Washington D.C. have several of our quick-reference guides allowing them to view a state's list of programs quickly and enabling them to better understand the current system and guide our future. According to the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation the U.S. has 20% less children uninsured than we did five years ago. It's finally happening. We are beginning to lower the ranks of the uninsured.

Closing Thoughts

The more people become passionate about health care issues the more we can get done. And, whenever changes do take place the Foundation for Health Coverage Education will work to keep people aware of their options. We see it as our job to help people understand the nuts and bolts of the health care system: what programs are available, and who is eligible for them.

I believe America's health care system looks like the people in this country, diverse and complex. And as each region, each state and the entire country continues to evolve the FHCE will be here to help, with our tools, our services and our commitment to simplifying health insurance information in order to help more people find coverage.

Sincerely,

Phil Lebherz
Chair, Executive Director

A YEAR OF MILESTONES

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education Goes National

This past year was all about keeping up with the demand. Since the beginning, each time we launched a service or tool in California, other states would contact us and ask for help to do the same.

A Matrix for every state

In the first quarter we unveiled fifty one new Matrix tools, a special customized version for each and every state in the country and the District of Columbia. Representatives from the National Association of Health Underwriters as well as the regional representatives then set out to educate legislators, business owners and the public about the availability of programs and our user-friendly information.

The U.S. Uninsured Help Line™ 800-234-1317

(open 24 hours per day, 7 days a week in 58 different languages)

Now available in California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Virginia and Wisconsin and will be available to the entire country by April 2007.

Interactive Eligibility Web Tool

A new and improved version of the tool that helped Californian residents identify their health care options is available to the entire country (state by state). The tool works by asking just five questions and then generating a custom profile of options and important information on how and where to apply.

A Special Focus on Community Outreach

As important as it is to branch out and reach large audiences, the FHCE sees the value of helping local communities.

County health clinics

The FHCE created a model program that taught county outreach workers how to use the Matrix and Booklet in order to help their communities. We also learned about their roles as “promotoras,” (Spanish-speaking promoters doing outreach in the Spanish-speaking neighborhoods) and of “educators” (the same but for African-American neighborhoods).

Schools

In order to reach more children and parents we conducted several mailings of free tools to student households in collaboration with San Diego and Placer counties.

2006 TOOL UPDATES

51 Health Care Options Matrix tools

The tool that started the Foundation for Health Coverage Education in California is now available in every state and Washington D.C. Using the same strategy as in California, we began by focusing on the insurance industry, letting the agents and brokers deliver their Matrix locally. Gradually each state's Matrix will go through additional distribution channels: social workers, educators, doctors, businesses and others. Currently the California Matrix is translated into four additional languages: Spanish, Cantonese, Vietnamese and Mandarin.

www.CoverageForAll.org

We revamped the Foundation website in order to help visitors find the information they need more quickly. More colorful, use-friendly graphics highlight the FHCE's most important tools and facts about the Uninsured. One click-on a map of the U.S. links visitors to a colorful PDF of any of the 51 unique state Matrix tools.

Health Coverage Eligibility Webtool

When the interactive Eligibility Tool was first launched for California it featured eight user-interview questions. After a year of testing and making improvements we were able to narrow the tool down to five main questions concerning recent insurance, age, family income, special social situations and health conditions. The tool takes only minutes to use and instantly generates a list of health care options and contact information. It's now available to all states.

U. S. Uninsured Help Line

The call center continues to be the FHCE's most successful and rapidly growing tool. It operates 24 hours per day, 7 days a week in 58 different languages. The Help Line information specialists have been trained on 14 more states and are being trained to offer assistance on the rest of the states by April 2007. Callers receive help identifying possible options or ordering copies of their state's Matrix.

800-234-1317

Finding Health Care Coverage in California Booklet

The feedback on the booklet is that it is a favorite tool among community outreach workers. They are handing out the booklets in their clinics, throughout neighborhoods and at local workshops. The booklet is currently available in English and Spanish with other languages coming in 2007.

Tools for Government Affairs

- State by State Comparison of Options Chart
- State by State Breakdown of the Uninsured Chart
- Five Myths about the Uninsured Quick-Reference Report

Tools Coming in 2007

- “Small Group Primer” booklet
- “Transitioning from Group Health” pamphlet
- “U. S. Directory of Health Care Options” book
- U.S. Uninsured Helpline (currently operating in the light blue states below) will be available nationwide by April 2007
