MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Friends, Supporters and Communities:

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education experienced another year of dynamic growth. Our media and the internet outreach campaign set a new record with an estimated 349 million media impressions. The U.S. Uninsured Help Line has helped over 18 thousand uninsured Americans and our www.coverageforall.org website hosted 148 thousand visitors.

The Foundation has also been building our ground support with help from many sources. Educators, businesses, health care providers, social workers and even the entertainment community have all joined in to help the Foundation deliver the message to the uninsured. Starting the year off, James Pickens, Jr., star of Grey's Anatomy, a hit ABC TV medical drama agreed to appear in 3 TV public service announcements to help educate the uninsured on available health coverage options.

For 2008, the Foundation is planning a number of new ventures including an accreditation as an Enrollment Entity with staff trained as Certified Application Assistants. This certification will allow the Foundation to help the uninsured sign up for public programs in California. In addition, the Foundation is also preparing to upgrade the online eligibility quiz, kick-off partnerships with hospitals and develop an 'Ultimate COBRA Guide' that outlines six health insurance alternatives.

The Foundation is committed to modernizing and simplifying the enrollment process in order to help more people find coverage. To help us achieve our goal we plan to recruit an advisory board of experienced individuals in the area of health care economics as well as insurance and public policy. Working together we will help lower the ranks of the uninsured.

I want to thank all of our supporters who have helped us become one of the largest most successful health insurance education non-profits in the nation.

Sincerely,

Phil Lebherz
Chair, Executive Director

A YEAR OF MILESTONES

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education Establishes National Presence

Foundation Outreach

The “Coverage for All” campaign crisscrossed the country to educate the uninsured and generated 209 million media impressions in 2007. The Foundation’s executive team was interviewed by 30 publications and wrote 244 print and online articles. The Foundation created a television public service announcement starring James Pickens, Jr., star of the highly acclaimed ABC series, “Grey’s Anatomy”, to help to get the word out about solutions for the uninsured. The public service announcement was aired in 17 states and produced 80 million media impressions. The Washington Post, LA Times, and San Francisco Chronicle are among a few prominent media outlets in which the Foundation has been featured.

The U.S. Uninsured Help Line™ 800-234-1317

As of April 2007, the U.S. Uninsured Help Line™ has been available to the entire country. Available 24/7 in 58 different languages, the call center has become the most popular public service element in the organization’s campaign to reduce the ranks of the uninsured.

Eligibility Quiz

The Eligibility Quiz is not only available in the entire country, but it is quickly becoming one of the Foundation’s most used tools. With the simple 5 question frame, the Eligibility Quiz continues to help the uninsured find coverage.

Online Applications

To centralize health coverage options, the Foundation has added all available public program applications to the website for all 50 states and Washington D.C.. Anyone who visits our site can download these program applications (and sometimes application instructions and underwriting requirements) before visiting the program representative.

Local Community Outreach

Schools

In order to spread the word to more children and their parents, we are currently working with the Los Angeles Unified School District on a customized matrix that provides a road map to the health coverage information in Los Angeles county. This matrix will be distributed through the school nurses in 2008.

SPECIAL THANK YOU TO ANTHEM BLUE CROSS FOUNDATION

Sharing the vision of reducing the ranks of uninsured, Anthem Blue Cross Foundation focuses on initiatives that make health care more accessible and affordable, improve quality of care, shape the development of health-related public policy and help identify best practices in medicine. The Anthem Blue Cross Foundation fueled the launch of the U.S. Uninsured Help Line, the Matrix and other outreach and educational programs by providing over $1 million in grants aimed to help the uninsured find coverage.

OUR DONORS

The Foundation for Health Coverage Education would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our generous donors. The annual contributions have allowed the Foundation to pursue our goal of educating the U.S. on private and public health coverage options and help reduce the number of uninsured.

Ineligible? Don't Be So Sure

By MICHAEL D. GREENE
Special to The Washington Post

Uninsured Washington area residents shopping for health coverage — or convinced they have to go without — have a new tool to help them assess the options available to them. A Web site first developed for California by the nonprofit Foundation for Health Coverage Education now includes information specific to all 50 states and the District. The same information is available via a toll-free hotline for people using a phone rather than a computer.

While the information on the site isn't new — several consumer groups have compiled essentially the same facts — an interactive format lets users shortcut through complexities to personalized options much more quickly and easily. The foundation, funded largely by the insurance industry, reports that the all-ages figure of 43 million uninsured Americans includes more people who don't know of the choices available to them.

Once a user identifies his state of residence, both the Web site and phone line use five simple questions to gauge a person's eligibility for public and private health plans open to those not covered by employers.

For example, if you report that you and your teenage son live in Washington, have no insurance and have a monthly income of $2,000, one plan you'll hear about will be the DC Healthy Families initiative, which provides health insurance to low-income children and their parents. The Web site also provides links to printable applications for many plans and phone numbers for sources and government agencies.
